

Cost Effective High Density Storage

The ideal location for High Density Filing Rooms would be in a building core area, adjacent to a girder or beam, and/or adjacent to a structural column. If at all possible, locate the floor track system directly over a structural floor beam. This may eliminate the need for additional structural support, which is often in the range of $20,000.00 and up.